- User names are created by library staff at the time of registration for a library account.
- Users can recover their password with the Forgot your password? Link as long as they know their email and user name.

- Passwords can not be retrieved but library staff can edit and update passwords and user names.
- As a security measure, multiple failed login attempts will lock the account and the password must be reset by the forgot your password? option or by library staff.
- Hanover and Marysville allow temporary cards. Self- registration
 These cards will need to be updated by library staff to have full checkout privileges, but patrons can access digital materials in the meanwhile.

- You can check collection, location, and item type boxes without adding search terms to browse entire sections.
- Don't use too many words: leave out some on a really long title. Words like 'A' and 'I', along with numbers, can slow down the search.
- Don't use too few words: include all the words in a short title. For single word titles, try adding author's last name or actor's last name.
